SUMMARY

I am a 23-year-old software/web engineer with a keen interest in web development, software development and machine learning. I enjoy working with different methods and algorithms to tackle different challenges, and I believe this makes the computer science fascinating the most.

I enjoy working as a part of team as well as working independently and I believe one can learn different experiences from each one of them.

I also enjoy music and in my free time, I would like to play piano and acoustic guitar. You can know more about me in my personal web page at: Ali-K.co.uk
